BATTLE FRONTS ARE WELDED TOGETHER BY SUDDEN THRUST

The French by a sudden thrust between the Oise and the Aisne, have definitely welded the Picardy and Aisne-Vesle battle fronts.

The active fighting front now extends from Bucquoy, north of Albert to La Neuville, northwest of Rheims—a distance of more than 100 miles, following the Serris lines.

In addition to his single front, there is almost a continuous fighting along a ten mile sector of the western portion of the Flanders, Field Marshal Haig reported unusual activity on a front of about 15 miles, north and south of Arras which actually connects with the Picardy front between Alette and Bucquoy. The attack between the Oise and the Aisne was made on a front of nearly ten miles between Fontenoy and a point south of Carlepoint. The French gained a mile and a quarter, taking 1,700 prisoners.

Allied pressure continued around Chaumes, Roye and Lassigny and the German resistance there is believed to be only preliminary to a retirement upon the new Somme defenses.

The enemy is expected to be constructing a powerful line around Nesle, which will form one of the principal points in the new line.

In French Alsace, the Americans continue to improve their positions, east of St. Die and are reported to won ground that will be valuable in starting any further offensive.

GERMANS WEAR UNIFORMS OF SLAV SOLDIERS

Washington, August 19.—Three special trains carrying 800 German soldiers, wearing Russian uniforms, and the German embassy staff, have left Moscow for Petrograd, according to cables reaching the state department today.

The Germans left Moscow, August 9, and on the same day unusual military and police measures were taken in Petrograd in preparation for their arrival. Trotsky and Lenin arrived in Petrograd on the same day and immediately extraordinary police measures were taken at Kronstadt, the supposition being that the Bolshevik leaders together with the Germans, would go on to the strongly fortified city.

Strenuous efforts are being made to get refugees out of Russia, according to the cable.

DRAFT MACHINERY IS ABOUT READY

Washington, Aug. 19.—Provost Marshal General Crowder announces that reports received at his offices indicate that everything will be in readiness within a few days for the registration next Saturday of the youths of the country who have reached the age of 21 since the date of the last registration, under the selective service act, June 5, last.

All printed forms required in the registration have been distributed. The registration cards will be similar to those used heretofore.

The registration numbers, however, will be filed in by the Adjutant General in each state, instead by the local boards.

PLENTY OF JEWELRY.

Cleveland, Aug. 19.—Over 2,500,000 worth of jewelry, displaying the latest styles and novelties, were shown here today at the joint convention of the National Retail Jewelers' Association, and the Ohio Retail Jewelers' association, at Hotel Winton.

Between five and six hundred are expected to attend the convention, which will continue until Friday.

FOOD RIOTING BREAKS OUT AMONG JAPS

Washington, August 19.—Food rioting in Japan threatens to develop into political revolt unless prompt measures are taken by the Tokyo government to provide rice for the population, according to the unofficial view here today.

German agents may be working among the masses to stir up discord by taking advantage of the profiteering situation, which is rapidly becoming acute there, it is believed. Anti-Annexionists, who are strenuously opposing Japanese plans for intervention in Siberia, are also believed to be spurring the people to bold steps which might unseat the present ministry.

Officials here were reluctant to draw conclusions from the rioting reported in all parts of the island empire. That the germ of class may be spreading to Japan is regarded possible. Japan's political system has modified greatly in recent years, and the democratic ferment of the western European nations is becoming stronger, especially since the war began, and the democratic nations have become closely associated with Japan.

Details of the rioting arrived several days late, but latest information attributed the immediate outbreak to the food situation. Profiteers in rice have cornered the market and are holding the price beyond reach of the underpaid classes.

War industries in Japan have thrived under the demand for munitions and the wealthy have grown more wealthy, while the poor find it more difficult to meet living costs.

Rioters are reported to have stoned homes of the wealthy, breaking into restaurants and rice depots, and attacking Geisha girls as they rode through the streets.

Predictions are freely made here that the social crisis is fast approaching.

BRING DOWN FIVE GERMAN AIRPLANES

London, August 19.—The destruction of five German airplanes and a hostile observation balloon was reported today in the official communiqué issued by the British air ministry.

Three British machines failed to return. Thirteen tons of bombs were dropped on various objectives.

Low clouds, rain and a high wind prevented aerial work at night.

Cleveland, August 19.—War mothers of Cleveland held their first annual picnic at Euclid Beach today.

AMERICAN SOLDIERS DIGGING TRENCHES ON THE MARNE; THESE BOYS HELPED MAKE HISTORY ON WESTERN FRONT

When these American lads began digging trenches on the Marne, they started the grave of Prussian autocracy. This picture, a recent one from the western front, where U. S. soldiers are making history, shows how the American boys drop their equipment and "hop to it" with a shovel with as much enthusiasm as they face Hun fire. The Germans can vouch for that enthusiasm.

FRENCH GAIN GROUND IN A NEW DRIVE

Paris, Aug. 19.—The French in a new drive between Oise and the Aisne, yesterday advanced a mile and a quarter on a front of more than nine miles, establishing complete connection between the Picardy and Aisne-Vesle battle fronts, the French war office announced today.

The advance was made between Carlepoint (four miles east of Ribecourt) and Fontenoy, (five miles west of Soissons), which marked the western extremity of the Marne, counter-offensive.

The French occupied the important plateau west of Nampcel. They also reached the southern border of the Ordincourt ravine (five miles southeast of Carlepoint) and captured the village of Neuville-Vingre (a mile and a half south of Fontenoy.) They took 1,700 prisoners. There are violent artillery fighting on both sides of the Avre. Eight hundred additional prisoners were taken in that region.

"North and south of the Avre there was violent artillery fighting," the communiqué said.

"West of Roye we took 400 additional prisoners yesterday, making a total of 800 in the Avre region during the day."

"Between the Oise and the Aisne, French rectified their front on a width of 15 kilometers (nine and a third miles) between a point south of Carlepoint and Fontenoy, advancing two kilometers, (a mile and a quarter). They occupied the table land west of Nampcel, reaching the southern border of the ravine of Audincourt and took Neuville-Vingre.

"They captured 1,700 prisoners."

CONGRESS BACK ON JOB AFTER ITS VACATION

Washington, Aug. 19.—Congress came back to work after a five weeks' vacation to tackle the biggest revenue and army bills in history. This was ready for business today, although neither of the big measures will be introduced before the middle of the week.

The ways and means committee is still working on the revenue bill and the military affairs committee began hearings on the man-power bill with Secretary Baker, Chief of Staff March and Provost Marshal General Crowder before it.

Although the senate vacation was not scheduled to end until next Saturday, it is now believed there are enough Senators to gain an enormous consent of a revival of the former sessions on next Thursday, when the man-power bill, which has already been introduced in the upper body will be taken up.

The water power bill, which was the unfinished business of the house and prohibition amendment to the food production bill holding the same status in the senate will have to give way to the more pressing war measures.

PRINCESS DID NOT ASK CONSENT OF THE KAISER

Amsterdam, Aug. 19.—The German crown princess recently traveled in a submarine from Heliogoland to Wismar, without the consent of either the Kaiser or the crown prince, according to the Berliner Tageblatt.

Wismar is on the bay of that name, an arm of the Baltic sea, 18 miles north of Schwerin. Heliogoland is on the Baltic, 25 miles northeast of Wismar.

GERMAN BORN YANKS MAKE BIG ADVANCE

Paris, August 19.—According to an official report of the French sixth army operating north of the Marne, an American division, composed almost entirely of German born men, advanced seven miles in seven days, during the counter offensive, captured eight villages, not including Fismes, and stormed three woods: one hill and one farm in hand to hand fighting.

The division once fought 72 hours continuously.

WOMEN CONDUCTORS GO ON A STRIKE

London, August 19.—Motor bus and tramway systems were practically paralyzed this morning as a result of the strike of conductresses, which threatens to spread throughout the country. At midnight, the union voted to call out today its thirty members in London and the provinces.

The women want five shillings a week bonus, the same as recently granted the men.

TO HELL WITH THE KAISER PERFECTLY PROPER TALK NOW

Camp Sherman, August 19.—The question as to whether army life tends to increase or decrease the habit of swearing on the part of the soldiers is being discussed by ministers here.

The question was raised when Rev. G. W. Attridge, a pastor of the Camp Sherman church, said such expressions as "to hell with the Kaiser," are not profane.

He declared that such expressions were merely forceful utterances.

FURTHER PROGRESS MADE IN FLANDERS

London, Aug. 19.—Further progress in Flanders and penetration of the enemy lines in the Arras sector was reported by Field Marshal Haig today.

A German attack on a front of more than twelve miles between Meteren and Otterstene, in an effort to win back ground lost in Sunday's British advance was completely defeated.

"A few prisoners were taken last night in the Ayette sector (eight miles south and west of Arras) and also south of the Scarpe river) which flows through Arras) where patrols entered the enemy's trenches and penetrated some distance into his positions," the statement said.

"North of the Scarpe a hostile raiding party was reported repulsed with loss. Yesterday and last night, we further progressed in the Marville sector (Flanders) despite opposition of hostile machine guns. We took between forty and fifty prisoners and a few machine guns."

Early last night the enemy attacked our new position between Otterstene, captured by the British Sunday and Meteren. The attack was completely broken up by our artillery and machine gun fire. The total of prisoners taken in yesterday's successful operation on this sector is not available yet.

"Hostile artillery showed some activity south of the Somme and was also active southwest and north of Bailleul (Flanders)."

HUNDRED I. W. W. MEN ARE FOUND GUILTY

Chicago, Aug. 19.—Federal Judge Landis was expected to announce today a date for hearing the I. W. W. motion for a new trial. The 100 defendants, found guilty Saturday on charges of obstructing war plans, believed the hearing would be held Wednesday or Thursday.

"We expect the motion will be granted, said Big Bill Haywood, "We shall appeal, if Judge Landis rules that the I. W. W. really was just born Saturday. Our trouble is just an instant in its carrier, Haywood said."

With the exception of one man in a hospital the defendants are in jail today. Most of them had been at large throughout the trial on bond.

WORD FROM HUGHES AWAITED BY JURY

Chicago, August 19.—Word from Charles E. Hughes was awaited here today before the Federal grand jury proceeds with the cases said to involve eight former employees of the aircraft production bureau here.

Allegations of payroll padding and other misconduct were made against the men, all of whom were superseded when military men were placed in charge. The men named by Federal investigators include a director of the bureau, six "inspectors" and a broker.

Major Walden Shaw, now in charge of the bureau, said today the office is being militarized and that inspectors will be returned from the front.

SEAMAN INSURANCE
Practically 80,000 officers and sailors on American owned and registered vessels trading in the waters where the German submarines operate have been insured by the Treasury Department. The aggregate of the policies total well over $100,000,000.

This insurance is made compulsory by law, and since the submarines began to infest American waters it applies to all vessels trading to or from our Atlantic and Gulf ports. Small fishing vessels are excluded.

ALLIES RUSH AID TO CZECHO-SLOVAKS IN RUSSIAN INTERIOR

Washington, Aug. 19.—With the Siberian winter approaching entente governments are striving today to rush aid to the stranded Czecho-Slovaks and get them in shape to withstand the hardships ahead.

These troops, who have been making vigorous stand in the heart of Russia, between the Volga and Lake Baikal, are practically without food, clothing and munitions and are frantically appealing to the allies.

Relief is being held up by the difficulty of organizing the economic mission, which America is planning to send. Realizing that the winter ahead in Russia will bring hardship a

AMERICAN TROOPS MAKE SMALL ADVANCE

BY FRANK J. TAYLOR,
United Press Staff Correspondent.

With the American Armies in France, August 18.—(Night)—American troops advanced slightly beyond Frapelle this morning and last night and consolidated the ground won in yesterday morning's attack.

The Germans in retaliation dropped 500 shells in Frapelle, but failed to drive out the Americans.

It was a surprise attack Saturday morning.

West of Gebweiler, 45 Boches attempted to raid American positions, but were driven off by artillery and rifle fire, without being able to reach our lines. (Gebweiler is in German Alsace, 12 miles north of Mulhausen. The lines are about four miles west of Gebweiler and 10 miles inside German territory at that point).

There was lively patrol activity in the Woerve area.

One doughboy, wounded nine times, carried in wounded companions.

An American corporal, whom it is inadvisable to name, has accounted for six Boches in the last three days, including a German sniper, who has been bothering the Americans for some time. He located them and maneuvered a whole morning to get into position. Then he took a single shot. Observers saw the sniper tumble from the tree. The corporal's best work, however, was the killing of three Boches inside of five minutes. Officers vouched for the feat.

BONE DRY GOES AMERICAN NAVY

Washington, Aug. 19.—The navy is now "bone dry." Under a general order issued by Secretary Daniels, intoxicating liquors cannot be sold or served to officers or enlisted men of the naval establishment under any condition.

The new rule extends the application of the previous regulations covering restricted ones around naval camps and stations. Today's order reads:

"Outside of said zones (restricted zones around naval camps and stations), alcoholic liquor, including beer, ale and wine, either alone or with any other article, shall not directly or indirectly be sold, bartered, given, served or knowingly delivered to any officer or member of the naval forces, within the United States, their territories or possessions, or any place under the direction of a regular licensed physician or medical officer of the United States."

MORAL INSANITY FAR WORSE THAN MENTAL INSANITY.

We know all too well about mental insanity. The many insane asylums of the country tell in unmistakable terms the fact that thousands of poor human beings have lost mental stability, and have to be cared for by others. These have our sincere sympathy and public duty sees to it that they are well cared for, as the unwritten law of humanity demands.

But in addition to these, there has always been another class of insane—the MORALLY insane—persons who have let their evil passions possess them so long that they were finally virtually "possessed by the devil." We read of such in the time of Christ, where He was often called upon to "cast out the devils" from the demoniacs. These were not simply bodily sick persons, perhaps not bodily sick at all, but those morally sick.

In Mark 1:32-34 we read: "And at even they brought unto Him all that were diseased and them that were possessed with devils. And He healed many that were sick of divers diseases and cast out devils."

We are sure, in the interpretation of other of these passages, where Christ connects demonical possession with the power of the Evil One, that there were evil spirits who, in those days, were permitted by God to exercise a direct influence over certain persons. The distinguishing feature was always the complete loss of reason or power of will.

In some cases the demons are represented as speaking in their own persons, and acknowledging their complete immoral condition, acknowledging Jesus, and their alienation from anything connected with Him—that there was nothing in common between Him and them—as they cried out in bitterest agony: "What have we to do with Thee, Jesus, thou Son of God? Art thou come hither to torment us before the time?" What "time did they mean? Could it be other than the time of eternal perdition?

As another has truthfully said:

"Man's mental activity is always an expression of his moral activity. To be wrong morally is to be wrong mentally. Insanity is unsoundness. A sinful world can never be a normally sane world. Sin is insanity because it is unsoundness. Beneath the shattered intellects of his day Jesus saw ruined morals. He traced lunacy to a MORAL CAUSE. The incoherent, self-contradictory, irrational state of the demoniac was due to his complete apostasy from the good.

"This ought to be self-evident to rational beings. No man can be sound in mind, in judgment, in the exercise of reason when he deliberately chooses a moral wrong. He may not be classed as insane, but from the standpoint of intelligent and scientific diagnosis he is not fundamentally sane.

"Technically speaking, the prodigal son was not deranged; but he had so lost his judgment and common sense and will-power as to squander his inheritance, and substitute a life among harlots and swine for a life in the old homestead, in companionship with a godly father. A worse case of moral and mental unbalancing can hardly be found inside asylum walls.

"Neither medical science nor civil law would have pronounced Judas as a lunatic. But from the standpoint of a normal intellect he was not sound. The human mind is thoroughly unbalanced, when it chooses the wrong instead of the right, errs in judgment, yields to passion.

"To the angels in heaven this world in its present conflict, hatred, fiendish cruelties, must seem a fearfully insane world; at least that part of it which planned this program of conquest and human slaughter. There is no insanity in heaven, but in hell there is nothing else; for soundness and sin never go together.

"It has remained for the twentieth century to witness the startling spectacle of an empire of boasted kultur making the attempt to build world dominion on a program of ceaseless and colossal falsehood and wrong."

"There will be little hope for the world if men and nations do not learn from this object lesson that it is the folly of a lunatic to attempt to build a nation or a character on any moral wrong."

MILITARY INSTRUCTOR WILL BE ASSIGNED TO ANTIOCH COLLEGE

Any college that has a hundred able-bodied men of draft age may have a federal military instructor. In order to accommodate colleges that are unable to reach this number the government has decided that two or more may combine for military training. Thus Hiedelburg and Defiance, and Otterbein and Kenyon have combined. To make the plan feasible the institutions thus offering to combine must be near enough to be easily reached by an instructor.

Agreeably with this plan Antioch College and St. Marys College of Dayton, have made an arrangement, which will mean when completed that a government military instructor will divide his time between two colleges, giving a certain number of hours to each. The proximity of the two colleges and the hourly traction service between them make this a very desirable arrangement.

The government is anxious that boys who want to go to college, or to remain in college should have the chance, and so it is offering them the opportunity to join the Student Army Training Corps.

The following is a letter sent out by the Bureau of Education at Washington and explains fully the plan of the War Department.

"To the Young Men of America. "How can I render the most valuable service to my country during the period of the war?" Every young man over eighteen is asking himself this question.

The War Department has just offered a new answer to the question. They say: "Enter college if you are fitted to do so or return to college if you are already enrolled, and enlist in the Student Army Training Corps."

By enlisting in the Student Army Training Corps you will become a member of the United States Army. You will receive a uniform and be given military drill under officers detailed by the War Department. During the early part of your course you will receive ten hours of military instruction a week, six of which will be drill rifle practice and other outdoor training and four of which will be academic work, for which military credit is given, such as mathematics, English, foreign languages, history, science, etc. You will be carefully rated both by the college authorities and by the military officers who will help you discover a special line of military service for which you have the greatest capacity and preference. Later in your course you will have an opportunity to specialize in a branch of training designed to fit you to become an officer of field artillery, medical or engineer officer, an expert in some technical or scientific service, and so on.

On reaching the age of twenty-one you must register with your local board. You may remain in college until your call is reached under the Selective Service Law. At that time it will be decided whether you will be called immediately to active service or whether you should remain in college to complete the course you are pursuing. The decision will depend upon the needs of the service and upon your achievements in your military work and in your studies as determined by the military officers at the college and by the college authorities.

During the summer you will have an opportunity to attend a summer camp for intensive military training. Your traveling expenses to and from camp will be paid and you will be on active duty under pay and subsistence by the War Department.

The Ohio War Board Says Today

The Food Administration has issued a warning that unless we are careful we may have a sugar shortage.

This can be prevented only if each individual uses no more than his share of sugar.

If we think our allotment of sugar small, let us compare it with the allotment of other countries.

The English may have two pounds of sugar a person each month.

The French may have one pound of sugar a piece each month (when they can get it).

The Italians may have one pound of sugar each month.

There are many ways in which sugar may be saved. By using sweet dried fruits, dates, raisins and figs to sweeten desserts and cereals and in place of candy.

By canning fruits without sugar and by making fruit pastes where the natural sugar will give most of the sweetness.

By omitting sugar from tea, coffee and cereals, or if it is used, by mixing it completely with the food and eating all of it.

FORMER BELLBROOK BOY AMONG MISSING

The name of Paul Reize, appearing in a recent casualty list as missing, and believed to have been killed or captured by the Germans, is of interest to many people, around Bellbrook, where the young man formerly went to school.

Although his home is near Brookville and such was the address on the casualty list, the young man attended Bellbrook High School for some time and was well-known in and around that place. He left Bellbrook about three years ago and has since enlisted in the Marines and has been fighting in France. He is thought to be about 18 years old.

Notice to Druggists Price Advance

For over a year now we have succeeded in maintaining our old prices, principally by virtue of a big increase in sales, which reduced our overhead cost.

For our fiscal year ending July 1, 1918, our sales amounted to over a million dollars—an increase of 50 per cent over the preceding year.

We had hoped to bridge the war period without a change in prices on but we find that our economies do not keep pace with our rising costs. It is with sincere regret, therefore, that we are forced to announce an increase, effective August 1, which will make it necessary to retail VapoRub at

The Kind You Have Always Bought.

THIS is the caution applied to the public announcement of Castoria that has been manufactured under the supervision of Chas. H. Fletcher for over 30 years—the genuine Castoria. We respectfully call the attention of fathers and mothers when purchasing Castoria to see that the wrapper bears his signature in black. When the wrapper is removed the same signature appears on both sides of the bottle in red. Parents who have used Castoria for their little ones in the past years need no warning against counterfeits and imitations, but our present duty is to call the attention of the younger generation to the great danger of introducing into their families spurious medicines.

It is to be regretted that there are people who are now engaged in the nefarious business of putting up and selling all sorts of substitutes, or what should more properly be termed counterfeits, for medicinal preparations not only for adults, but worse yet, for children's medicines. It therefore devolves on the mother to scrutinize closely what she gives her child. Adults can do that for themselves but the child has to rely on the mother's watchfulness.

Letters from Prominent Druggists addressed to Chas. H. Fletcher.

Central Drug Co., of Detroit, Mich., says: "We consider your Castoria to be a class distinct from patent medicines and commend it."

Christy Drug Stores, of Pittsburgh, Pa., say: "We have sold your Castoria for so many years with such satisfactory results that we cannot refrain from saying a good word for it when we get a chance."

Jacob Bros., of Philadelphia, Pa., say: "We take pleasure in recommending Fletcher's Castoria as one of the oldest and best of the preparations of the kind upon the market."

Hess & McCann, of Kansas City, Mo., say: "Your Castoria always gives satisfaction. We have no substitute for it and only sell 'The Kind You Have Always Bought,' the original."

The Voegell Bros., of Minneapolis, Minn., say: "We wish to say that we have at all times a large demand for Fletcher's Castoria at all of our three stores and that it gives universal satisfaction to our trade."

Polk Miller Drug Co., of Richmond, Va., says: "Your Castoria is one of the most satisfactory preparations we have ever handled. It seems to satisfy completely the public demand for such an article and is steadily creating a growing sale by its merit."

P. A. Caplan, of New Orleans, La., says: "We handle every good home remedy demanded by the public and while our shelves are thoroughly equipped with the best of drugs and proprietary articles, there are few if any which have the unceasing sale that your Castoria has."

M. C. Dow, of Cincinnati, Ohio, says: "When people in increasing numbers purchase a remedy and continue buying it for years; when it passes the fad or experimental stage and becomes a household necessity, then it can be said its worth has been firmly established. We can and do gladly offer this kind of commendation to Fletcher's Castoria."

'THE WIFE'
BY JANE PHELPS
CHAPTER XIII.

FEARFUL RUTH MAY NOT COME, HER AUNT SENDS A CHECK

Ruth could scarcely think of anything else but what she would do to make the old living room lovely. She was absent minded for days after she received her aunt's letter, and Brian often spoke twice before he received an answer.

Two or three times she had started to discuss her ideas with her husband, but he seemed so little interested she had desisted. To tell the truth Brian Hackett was so comfortable, so happy in that he had won Ruth, that he cared very little for extraneous things.

Their home was—to his mind—comfortable; although it seemed so poor to Ruth. She had made it as attractive as possible, and it was so different in its plain restfulness, from his own home, that it satisfied him. Brian was an adorable lover, but as a husband he was far too easy-going to satisfy an ambitious woman, a woman accustomed to luxuries, which she felt he might in a measure supply if he tried hard enough.

"When does your aunt want you to come?" Brian asked.

"Oh, she hasn't said! When she gets ready to have the work done, I suppose."

"What am I to do while you are away?"

"Why, I hadn't thought of that! I should sleep home, if I were you and get my meals wherever I wanted to."

"Um—"

"I'll get Mrs. Murphy to make your bed, and keep the house dusted."

"Ruth, I may as well tell you before you plan any further, I don't see how I am to manage it—your going, I mean. Ever since you spoke of it I have wondered how I could get the money. But it costs us every cent I earn, to live. It will take fifty dollars at least, for such a trip. I am afraid, dear, you will have to give it up. I'm sorry, but I don't see how I can manage it, unless," he added whimsically, "I turn second story man."

"Oh, Brian, I must go!—think what Aunt would believe if I didn't!"

"What do you mean?"

"Why, she would say right away you couldn't afford to let me—and—"

Ruth stopped short. Never had she confessed to Brian her aunt's feeling that he could not support her; that she would miss the luxuries to which she had been accustomed as soon as the newness wore off.

"And what? Why don't you finish?"

"Oh, nothing! only I should hate to have her think we are so poor I couldn't visit her."

"I would manage it, dear, if I could, don't you know that? But unfortunately Uncle Sam doesn't allow me to coin the long green."

"Never mind, Brian, I know you do all you can." But in spite of all she could do, in spite of her love for her husband, her faith in him, Ruth could not help a sinking feeling as she wondered if he never would be able to let her go home. Repapering, a better apartment, all such things receded before the thought that she could not visit her home, she so loved, whenever she wanted to. Her aunt had told her she need expect nothing from her—told it in such a manner Ruth knew she meant it. But at the same time Mrs. Clayborne had taken it for granted that Ruth would often visit her and had so expressed herself.

Ruth said nothing more, neither did Brian again mention the subject. But while Brian dismissed it from his mind, there was scarcely an hour of the day that Ruth did not think of it. That she did not long to go home. She wanted to see her aunt, her second mother, and she wanted her mammy. She longed to be petted and made of. To sleep once more in her dainty chamber, to have her bath drawn, her breakfast served to her daintily as it used to be. She longed to see what she could do with the old living room that had not been redecorated when the rest of the house had been done over. It had enormous possibilities: it was so big, and her aunt would let her do as she wished.

But of all this she breathed not a word to Brian. She loved him dearly, was happy in her love. Even the lure of all she had given up could make no difference in that. But oh, how she did want to have both! Brian and all he meant to her; and money to do, and live, as she had been accustomed.

Then one morning came another letter from her aunt. When she opened it, at the breakfast table, a thin blue paper fluttered to the floor. With a little squeal of delight she picked it up. It was a check for seventy-five dollars.

"Your expense money," her aunt wrote, "I engaged a professional decorator I should have to pay his expenses down here. As I like your work better than that of any professional I happen to know, I am sending you your expenses."

Ruth jumped up from the table and did a little dance around the room.

"Now I can go! Oh, I am so glad."

"Yes, you can go. But I can't pretend to be glad. I shall be horribly lonely. Then—I hate to think your aunt had to send you the money for four fare."

"Yes, I know, Brian! But I couldn't have gone if she hadn't, you said so yourself. But don't look so forlorn. I'll stay home if you want me to."

"No, go along!" but Brian felt like a martyr, just the same, and Ruth knew it.

Tomorrow—Ruth is Very Happy To Be Back in Her Southern Home.

MICHAEL J. DOWNES MEETS WITH FATAL ACCIDENT SATURDAY

Fatally injured when he was knocked from a moving freight train in the Pennsylvania railroad yards by the extended armature of a water crane Michael J. Downes, a yard conductor, well-known and popular Xenian, died at the office of Dr. W. A. Galloway, where he had been taken at 10:30 o'clock Saturday night.

Death was due to a fracture of the skull at the base of the brain, which according to a physician was due to the fall, his head evidently striking a rail. The accident happened at 2:40 o'clock Saturday afternoon when Mr. Downes was climbing on a freight train near the freight depot.

The water crane was in normal position. It is claimed, but it protrudes in such a way that trainmen have to be careful to avoid it. It is thought that Mr. Downes had forgotten the position of the crane. He had just received his orders from Yardmaster Gene Smith in front of the dispatcher's office, and the latter had just turned his back when the accident happened. The unfortunate man was climbing up the side of a box car when struck by the crane and knocked off, his head evidently striking a rail, causing the fracture of the skull which is the only injury he sustained.

Although he was rushed immediately to the office of Dr. Galloway in a nearby motor truck, there was nothing the physician could do and death resulted at 10:30 o'clock Saturday night.

Mr. Downes had been in the employ of the Pennsylvania railroad for ten of twelve years and was popular among all his fellow employees. He was a member of St. Brigid's church and a charter member of Xenia Council, Knights of Columbus. He would have been 36 years of age next January 5. His marriage to Miss Clara Graff took place ten years ago next February and she survives him with four small children. They are: Margaret, Dorothy, Robert and Catherine. He also leaves his father and mother and the following brothers and sisters: George, of Dayton, John and Harry, of this city, David, Mrs. Nelle Casey and Miss Mayme Downes, of Everett, Washington, and Mrs. Johanna Krebs, of this city.

Funeral services will be held at St. Brigid's church Wednesday morning and the hour will be announced later. Burial will be made in St. Brigid's cemetery.

FORCE OF ARMS OF ALLIES MUST WIN THIS WAR

"This war must not end by compromise. There must be no peace until the armies of the allies have forced it upon German soil."

Dr. John Acheson, president of the Pennsylvania College for Women, lately returned from France where he spent several months as a member of the commission representing the National War Work Council of the Y. M. C. A. said this emphatically today.

Dr. Acheson, former Xenian, and loved and respected by hundreds of his old friends here stopped off in Xenia Saturday morning, having a few hours to spend before continuing on the tour he is making in the interest of the War Work Council and the Bureau of Public Information. He was the guest of his friend and former schoolmate, Dr. Reed Madden.

In the front line trenches, in dugouts, in listening posts, as far upon the border of "No Man's Land," as the soldiers of democracy had then penetrated went Dr. Acheson and other members of the commission.

"I came back more impressed than before with the thought that this war must be won by the United States and her allies. We will have to win. There must be no thought of peace until we have been able to force it."

His eyes burn with intensity of his feeling as he speaks of the atrocities that were and are being committed by the armies of Germany in France and Belgium. "Not hearsay, nor rumor, but every word of it the truth. I can conceive that there might be some men of the armies of Germany who, with removal of restraint, would be guilty of the unspeakable acts that have been committed. But these were not cases of isolated depravity on the part of individuals, but a horrible campaign of frightfulness, systematically conducted. We have copies of the original official orders issued to German armies directing such atrocities," said Dr. Acheson.

Other members of the commission of which Dr. Acheson was a member and which went to France early in the year are: Ralph Harrison of Pittsburgh; Ex-Senator Leroy Percy of Mississippi; Dr. Hugh Thompson Kerr, pastor of the Shady Side Church of Pittsburgh. They were accompanied by Joseph W. Kimmear, not really a member of the commission, but going for the Carnegie Steel Company.

They intended to review the war work of the Y. M. C. A. in England, France and Italy, but found the task in France so stupendous that they were not able to get to the other countries.

Dr. Acheson speaks of the wonderful trust of the people of France in the American people and their soldiers. It is a trust so beautiful that it is touching. He illustrated it by this little incident, "I seated myself on a curbstone to rest when I grew tired after long walking, and a beautiful little curly headed boy came up behind me, put his arms about my neck and slipped into my lap." He knew I was an American. That is the spirit of all France.

He spoke of the wonderfully unselfish spirit of the Y. M. C. A. workers and the feeling which the soldiers have for them. He told of one occasion when he relieved a man in charge of one of the huts, who had worked continuously until he was exhausted, with no one to relieve. Equipped with helmet and gas mask he worked, while shells fell all about. When things grew too marked he escaped to the dugout beneath the hut.

Members of the commission paid all their own expenses. They travelled by rail, by motor, by wagon and afoot, going everywhere that the Y. M. C. A. has penetrated with its message of love and unselfish service to the soldiers of the allies.

The Itching and Sting of Blazing, Fiery Eczema
Seems Like the Skin Is on Fire.
There is a harassing discomfort caused by Eczema that almost becomes a torture. The itching is almost unbearable, and the skin seems on fire with the burning irritation. A cure from local applications of salves and ointments is impossible, because such treatment can only lay the pain temporarily. The disease can only be reached by going deep down to its source.
The source of Eczema is in the blood, the disease being caused by an infection which breaks out through the skin. That is why the most satisfactory treatment for all so-called skin diseases is S. S. S., for this remedy so thoroughly cleanses the blood that no impurities can remain. Get a bottle to-day at any drugstore, and you will see results from the right treatment.
